

Finite State Machines: (there is no free lunch)

These will help when organizing and trying to find bugs in real time systems.

These can be taught to anyone. You test it by running different scenarios.

